The history of gold mining in the Malay Peninsula up to its present point closely re- represent the Clab:sembles that of the early stages of gold mining in India. The extravagant hopes that were entertained respecting the Mysore and other mines, the excitement in the stock market, and the extravagunt figures to which the shares were rushed up, will still be fresh in the recollection of many of our readers. There is not the slightest ground for auspicion that he ever gave anything but an accurate account of what he saw, and about the most hopeful thing he has ever said was that there was as good a prospect of developing extensive and rich gold mines as either miner or mining adventurer could wish for. So far that prospect has not been realised, but it still remains. For all that is known to the contrary, the gold fields of Pahang may turn out as rich as those of Australia, and the Panjom Company may be in possession of the richest portion of them If the enterprise is to be successful, it willbe by deep mining, not by scratching the surface, and so far the Punjoin Company have | tendent of the Copper Mines in Yunnan, reports gone down little over a hundred feet. THE INDIAN YARN TRADE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE " DAILY PRESS." SIR .- To-morrow augurs to be a very critical day for Indian merchants trading in yarn and cotton, and for their brokers, who may be selling or sacrificing their principals goods. To-morrow the new system of clearance and contract is coming into force. To-morrow the Indian merchants and their Chinese confreres are going to be on the war path-the one to insist upon the new arrangement, and the other to resist same touth and unil. These Celestials have made some movements, have aftered some menaces, and seem to have a mind to resort to their old favourite game of forming a close and compact confederacy against the innovation so very unpalatable to hem. But Indian merchants, at least on paper, for the present seem to be equally firm and resolute. They have signed a selema agreement binding themselves to it, and engaging themsolven never to swerve from it. So far so good They must always keep before them the signal success of their brothren in Shanghai But, alsa for human frailty. There is some fear, some misgiving, some suspicion, lest there should be any underhand business. Let us wish these may prove groundless. If the Indian merchants and their brokers stand firm and united if they persevers, if they go intoit henestly and sincerely, they will carry the day. Right

The Marjelen Lake, at a beight of 8,000 feet in Upper Valais, Switzerland, enjoys the unique distinction of being formed by the damming of the valley by a glacier. The surplus water from this lake usually escapes through underground channels, but sometimes accumulates to such an extent that the ice barrier is burst, and the lake temporarily disappears. One of these periodical emptyings, lately occurred, and was witnessed by a peasant who chanced to be very near. As the ice dam broke, the vast mass of water swept out, carrying away huge fragments of ice and rock, tumbling into the orevices, bursting them up in turn, and riging up over the glacter in gigantic waves. The ricolite and green cays quarries now operated in Grant County, New Mexico, mark a most remarkable discovery. The stone forms Plantinga true fissure vein 50 feet wide and more than a mile long, and it is taken out in huge blocks and carried to Chicago—where the quarries are owned—for use in juside and outside decoration of houses. The material is of a variety of colours -dark green and cream, striped and mattled, also pink, and pream is susceptible of a high polish, very tough, and the only stone of the kind in the world that one be carved.

A reprint of an address before the Franklin Institute, by Thos. Pray, jun., shows an astonishing difference in the cost of steam power in different establishments, the range being from $7.98 to $564.32 per horse power for a year of 3,080 working hours. A great waste of power from various causes is believed to be very common in incomptives, steamships, electric gener-

> Renewed attention has been directed to some ourlons experiments made 25 years ago by M Nicolas Wogner. It was then demonstrated that fixed electric currents exist in the wings of butterflies and that the colonr of the wings is determined by these currents. Artificial currents changed the reds into orange, and blacks into red, and a constant battery produced spots varying in shape with the strength of the current By means of electricity, it was also possible to produce a kind of strophy, and to change the shape of the wings.

Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service Hans, German sub., 120, Hansen, Dec. 2, Black-this. Work stands unrivalled. All the new head & Co. words which the Chinese have of late years been J. D. Bischoff, Goraship, 1,808, Meyer, Ang. 7, August Tellefson, Norw back, 738, Hanson, compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Ponti pronunciations are given the accounts being carefully marked on the best principle hither attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size. of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration: Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese charac-Hongkong: Published at the Daily Press ters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which Hedvig, British bark, 376, Sodermann, Oct. 8, Firebran , composite sumbast, I grass, 440 h p.
